commBOX

About Us

Established in 1976, CommBox has been leading technology innovation for over 45 years. CommBox is an Australian designer and manufacturer of a range of powerful and intuitive interactive and commercial displays, educational apps, designer AV furniture, easy-to-use digital signage and device management software.

CommBox products are approved for Australian Defence and trusted by numerous education departments, government organisations and businesses.

CommBox is passionate about creating human-centric technology, so we put the CommBox Crew at the heart of our product development. The CommBox Crew comprised of end users from Australia and New Zealand from a range of industries and technical abilities. All our products are informed, validated and tested by the CommBox Crew before launching.

CommBox collaborates with the world's leading technology partners, like Microsoft, Google, Poly, Jabra, Vivi, Clickview and more, to ensure every CommBox product works seamlessly in every meeting room, every time you use it.

CommBox seeks to wow customers in every moment, with a modern design aesthetic, superior install experience, and ongoing support delivered by the CommBox Customer Success Team.

CommBox designs and develops with collaboration in mind, helping professionals do more together than they can on their own. In every space that people meet to work together, CommBox is the very best collaboration suite you can use to connect, share, present, ideate, collaborate and communicate.

CommBox is excited to be launching the new Classic S4 built with CommBox OS designed to revolutionise the front of classroom experience for teachers and students.

Transforming Learning

... with the CommBox Crew

All CommBox products are designed and developed in close collaboration with an international cross-sectional focus group of principals, teachers and IT managers, known as the CommBox Crew. The Crew helps CommBox to better understand the problems we are trying to solve as well as providing ongoing customer feedback and validation. This enables CommBox to build products we know customers will love.

The CommBox Crew are instrumental in ensuring CommBox remains the #1 touchscreen in Australia, New Zealand and worldwide.
